HOW THEY HAD HIM.

When I was young and tender, too,
I had to mind, and had to do
Whatever mother bade me;
She used to have a walnut stick
Which kept me on a double quick,
And that was where she had me.

When older grown, and quite a beau
Among the girls I used to know
A Miss Priscilla Cadmy,—
And with the help of smiles and nods
I fell in love at forty rods,
And there is where she had me.

When I was older my sixteen,
I thought it time to have a queen—
And asked her if she'd wed me:—
She said she didn't much object,
Or words to something of that effect,
And that was where she had me.

But when to make the matter straight,
I went up to negotiate
Affairs with Col. Cadmy,
He said he "didn't care to tell,"
He told me I might go to—well,
And that was where he had me.

I drowned my sorrows in a cup
Until I got my dander up—
(I couldn't have been madder,)
When she proposed that we be one
In spite of Pa; the thing was done,
And that was where I had her.

Two lovely urchins on my knee
I'm proud to say belong to me—
(That is, to me and madam)
For when we left our native sod,
We spent a year or two abroad—
And there was where we had 'em.

History of the 49th Pennsylvania.

BY A. B. HUTCHISON,
Late Captain of Company 'C.'

[INTRODUCTORY.—In proposing the following sketch of the career of the 49th Pa. Vol., I do not expect to accomplish much in either a literary or historical way. Neither do I expect to furnish a history of the army with which we were identified, nor of the war in which we were engaged. No attempt will be made to write up, or down, any officer or man in the regiment. What is intended, and attempted is, simply to preserve the record of events as they occurred in, and as they appeared to, the regiment, or at least to one of the members of the regiment.

The events of the war will be referred to as being matters of common knowledge, and no attempt will be made to exaggerate or belittle the achievements of the Army of the Potomac, or any other. I acknowledge in advance, the aid derived from Rev. Wm. Earnshaw, Chaplain, Capt. C. Dale, Lt. B. H. Downing, and others of the regiment who have allowed me the use of their memoranda of various matters, rolls, diaries, etc. I should be glad to receive from any others, any rosters, rolls, diaries, or letters in aid of [illegible] I shall try to add a complete roster of the officers of the regiment. I should be glad to print a complete roll, and may be able to do so, if copies of the consolidation and muster-out rolls can be secured. Having said what I do not intend to make this history, and what I mean to try to accomplish in it, I now offer it to the readers of the REPUBLICAN, to be judged of by itself.

A. B. HUTCHISON.]

CHAPTER I.

Organization—Camp Curtin—Flag Presentation—March to Washington by Rail—Accident near Baltimore—Arrival at the Capital.

Our Regiment, the 49th Pa Vol., was organized by Col. William H. Irwin, at Harrisburg, during the months of August and September, 1861. Col. Irwin had served as Captain of Infantry in the Mexican War; had been Brevetted Major for gallant and meritorious services, and during the Summer had commanded the Seventh Regiment of Penn'a Vols., three month's men, in the Army of Gen. Patterson. This first campaign had ended with the disastrous battle of Bull Run. The people were still very greatly excited, and volunteers everywhere responded with alacrity to the call of the President for troops. The gloom which succeeded the Bull Run defeat was being dispelled, and new hopes and new resolves entertained by all classes of citizens. Early in September all the Companies which formed the Forty-ninth, had rendezvouxed at Camp Curtin, and several had completed their organization. Companies "A" and "G" came from Centre; "B" and "F" from Chester; "C" and "D" from Huntingdon; "E," "H" and "K" from Mifflin, and "I" from Juniata. As yet, but two of these were regularly mustered into the United States service as companies, the remainder waiting the requisite number of men. The men were mustered as individuals, or in squads as recruits, as fast as they were accepted by the Surgeons; but no rolls, as evidence of this muster, were ever furnished, the mustering officer declining to supply rolls except to complete organizations. This omission was not supposed, at that time, to be a matter of any consequence, as all of us, officers and men, were confident that our term of three years would not find us in warlike occupations during half its period, so greatly did we underrate the means of defence of our enemies, and so confidently did we count on our speedy triumph; relying on our own abilities, and the justice of our cause to fright rebellion from its foul design. And we relied implicitly, too, on the good faith of our Government, in whose service we had just embarked, and would then have doubted his loyalty, who should dare to question as to whether we should be discharged promptly at the end of three years of honest service. Yet, afterwards, we learned the importance of having all things plainly written in the contract, for the "pound of flesh" was demanded, even as it was written in the bond. We were compelled to serve some six weeks over our three years. The few weeks spent in Camp Curtin was a time of busy preparation. The camp was crowded with enthusiastic volunteers, and regiments and companies were being hastily, and in many cases imperfectly organized, and hurried forward to the defence of the still beleaguered Capital. Guards were not necessary then to see men to their destined regiments. No bounties were found necessary to persuade men to the performance of a patriot's sacred duty—none were found to tempt the vile denizens of our Five Points, and alien convicts to disgrace the blue uniform of the American soldier.

Then we were learning to live in tents—to handle the musket and the frying-pan—perfecting our very imperfect education in warlike arts and kitchen practices—imagining ourselves soldiers, when we were raw recruits, and believing we were far from home, and enduring the privations of a campaign, while still in full view of our native mountains, and in the midst of Pennsylvania's land of plenty.

On Wednesday, the 18th day of September, we received from the State authorities, by the hand of His Excellency, Governor A. G. Curtin, our regimental colors, a very beautiful National flag, with Pennsylvania's coat of arms, emblazoned on the blue field amongst the stars. In presenting it, the Governor favored us with a highly appropriate address. Col. Irwin, in accepting it on behalf of the regiment, pledged them "to sustain it in honor while one man of them should be left to defend our country's cause." We redeemed the pledge, and brought the old flag back in tatters. After the presentation, a review and parade of the regiment was had, in presence of many spectators, and on our dismissal to quarters, the gratifying intelligence that we should soon be moved to the city of Washington was communicated to us. The announcement created the most unbounded enthusiasm, for all were anxious to reach the then seat of war. Accordingly, on Saturday, the 21st of September, we embarked, on two trains, on the Northern Central Railway, and at noon were off for Washington. Our progress was slow, but the journey was not tedious, for all seemed to feel, and certainly behaved, like children just released from school, and bent on a holiday.—Our cars were not the most commodious, being the sort denominated box; however, I very much question if ever excursion train carried lighter hearts, or merrier passengers than the soldiers of the Forty-ninth going to war. But our journey was not permitted to end as it commenced, for, ere we reached Baltimore, by the of the rear train—the regiment occupied two—it was allowed to run into the front one, smashing the hindmost car, and instantly killing two men of Company G, Daniel Parker and John Fulton, of Centre county, who were sitting on the platform. It was quite dark when the accident occurred, and a scene of confusion ensued beyond my ability to describe.—Two men lay there mangled corses, and to each man's fancy the absence of some comrade was magnified into his sudden death; so friends searched for each other, fearing to succeed in discovering only their crushed remains. The rest of the men escaped, however, with only a few bruises, while the engineer of the rear train was found very seriously, and a-it afterward proved, mortally wounded, a fate that, in all probability, was no worse than would have been his had he fallen into the hands of the men alive and unhurt. We gathered up the remains of our comrades and slowly made our way to Baltimore. The Union Relief Association afforded our men a very palatable supper, and morning brought us, as comrades, the Forty-ninth New York Vol., enroute also to Washington. Sister regiments from sister States, our pathways through the war have never widely separated, each having a record of honor written in blood, and neither, a stain on her banners. Leaving a detachment of Company G' to bury their dead, we sped on our way. It was a beautiful Sabbath day when we saw, for the first time, the Dome of our Capitol, and realized a new sense of our importance as defenders of our Government. We had longed to be counted amongst the brave defenders of our country's Capital, and here it was before us, with the banners of our rebellious foes in view of it. Our whole regiment was thus transferred to the Federal Capital, and to Federal control, except only Company F, which remained at Camp Curtin to complete its organization, a matter much needed in the cases of several other companies. Thus far our soldier experiences were smooth—full of enthusiasm, excitement and anticipation. Hereafter comes the record of our active service—our real experience.

CHAPTER II.

Camp Juniata—A March in the Mud—Our first Bivouac in Virginia—Camp Advance—Hancock's Brigade—Camp Vanderwerken—Picketing, Drilling and Fortifying—A Rain Storm—Election—March to Camp Griffin.

Our camp in Washington was called Juniata, in memory of the beautiful little river we left behind us up among the mountains of Pennsylvania, never again to be greeted by very many of our comrades. Here we continued our drills and general military education—a matter never neglected or lightly passed over by our soldierly Colonel; but we were still in discontent, for we awaited, impatiently, the order to cross the Potomac river—to get to the front. In matters of this kind, a little real experience is apt to insure to a soldier sufficient patience—when he awaits orders to go to the front; after having been there for a time, his resignation, under unexpected delays, is instructive.

Finally, on the 28th of September, just a week after our departure from Harrisburg, we received orders to move across the river by way of Chain Bridge. We marched through the city of Washington in most excellent spirits; fresh, and in good humor with the condition of affairs. Our burdens were light, for our baggage and knapsacks were hauled in wagons, of which we had this day a very large number—in fact we do not recollect that the Quarter Master's Department ever furnished us with a second example of such wonderful liberality in the matter of transportation, as on this memorable occasion.

But ere we reached Georgetown it began to rain, and it continued to rain faster and longer, as the mud increased in quantity, and our heavy overcoats in weight. As we marched up the road on the bank of the Chesapeake and Ohio Canal, the men picking a more solid pathway than could be found in a straight-forward course, straggled, wet and muddy, pledding silently and grumbly along—there was, perhaps, but little resemblance to the martial appearance we at least tried to put on, as we moved in column, so proudly, a few minutes earlier, through the streets of the Capital, and by the White House. As we neared the Chain Bridge, it began to grow dark, evening approaching, but though weary and worn, when the bridge was reached, the men went through it at a double quick, cheering as they reached the Virginia shore. Why this bridge is called the Chain Bridge, is difficult to determine; there is nothing about it now to suggest such a cognomen. It is an ordinary wooden bridge, such as is usually built over our large streams.

Having crossed, we marched laboriously up the long winding ascent on the Virginia side, answering the questions of soldiers gathered along the road, and putting others to them, as to what regiment, where from, and hearing and replying to jokes, aimed at us by our new acquaintances after the manner of soldiers—till we reached the summit of the bluffs which line the river at this point. Here leaving the turnpike, we passed to the left, down a little ravine, into a deep hollow, in which was a small stream, now considerably swollen by the rain. It was dark, and we had no guide, in consequence of which we forded the stream, not more than five rods from a bridge, till, halted. On this knoll was a house and stable, both empty. Wet, cold and tired as we were, they were a welcome shelter. Our baggage, even to knapsacks, was on the train, and that in the rear. The chances of our being able to get the wagons up were small; and, though parties tried to find them, nothing could be ascertained until morning, when the train was discovered on the sides of the ravine opposite, the leading wagon upset in the ditch. This being our first forward movement in Virginia, was named Camp Advance, though better remembered in the regiment, from another circumstance, and by a different name. Building fires of the fragments of the stable which fell a victim to military necessity, we bivouaced around them, and waited for morning to take our bearings. Then tents and baggage came to hand, and we were soon in camp again in order, and our excellent Chaplain, Rev. Wm. Earnshaw, held our first religious services in Virginia. It was Sunday. Here, too, we first performed picket duty, and were turned out one night by an alarm occasioned by some of our troops firing upon each other by mistake. The camp was constantly regaled by rumors of every description, one of which related that the enemy had attempted to cross the river above us, and had been repulsed by Bank's forces with great slaughter, the river being said to be filled with their dead bodies—a rumor strangely verified on our part not long afterwards, when Balls Bluff's sad history was written. At Camp Advance we were attached to Brig. Gen. W. S. Hancock's Brigade of Brig. Gen. W. F. (Baldy) Smith's Division, and from this time forth were never separated from the Potomac Army, or relieved from active duty in the field. Here our Army commenced to fell the forests, and build those immense works which now environ our Capital. Here, too, were formed the camps, in which was organized, instructed, drilled and disciplined that first Grand Army of the Potomac, of which we may at least affirm, that we "shall never look upon its like again."

From Camp Advance we moved a few miles South to Camp Vanderwerken, where our time was mainly occupied by drill, picket and fatigue, the usual incidents of a soldier's life. On the night of the seventh of October a heavy rain fell, and as the quarters of our officers were in a hollow, they spent a good portion of the night perched on mess chests, &c., keeping things dry—a mere incident in camp housekeeping, in which we had some lessons yet to learn. The eighth of October was election day, and elections were, accordingly, held in camp.—We discovered, on this day, that about one-half, or a few more than a majority of our men, were not voters, by reason of being still minors, and the vote in camp was neither large nor important, and very much like the handle of a jug. Afterwards our Supreme Court discovered that it was unconstitutional, so that we might have saved ourselves this trouble. What a Court!

Next day we marched to Lewinsville, approaching it slowly, and with caution, and settling down in bivouac in sight of it at a late hour. For some reason we were all very tired and hungry. We had yet to learn not to be affected by the excitement of a soldier's life, for every movement had, to our inexperience, a grave significance.

We lay down by a half finished rifle-pit, near a house, owned by a Dr. Mackall, which, being empty, was possessed by our Brigade Commander, Gen. Hancock, as his Head Quarters. Next day we completed the rifle-pit, and went into camp on the plain near the house.—This was Camp Griffin, a place of many very pleasant memories to most of us.—Here we passed the school-boy days of our army life, and we shall not soon forget the lessons we learned, nor ever our stern, but brave and accomplished teacher, the man who made us soldiers, and who has since made for himself an immortal name—Hancock.

BELLEFONTE REPUBLICAN.

BELLEFONTE, PA.

Wednesday Morning, March 3, '69.

How Careless.

The Watchman, and other semi-rebel sheets, have a great deal to say about the extravagance of the Republican party; but they are very careful not to expose their own rottenness, extravagance and corruption. They refuse to explain the reason why it costs so much more for them to rule in this county, than it did under Republican rule. Now, the county tax is 7½ mills to the dollar; under Republican rule 2½ mills. Why is this? MEEK is a pretty bird to talk of the extravagance of any party—ain't he now? The fact is, the Democratic Commissioners do not attend to anything much, unless it is to see that MEEK gets his pay for Co. printing, &c. Look at the dilapidated condition of the Court House. No care taken of it at all. It looks as tho' it had been built thirty years ago.—Everybody is talking about it. Bad, as the outside is, the inside is worse.—The nice iron fence that encloses the yard, and which was put there at a handsome expense to the tax payers of the Co., under the pretext of being an ornament to the town, is now not only a disgrace to the town, but to the entire county, and shows how negligent public servants may become, in looking after public property.

They do not, however, neglect their own interests. No, no—not they. Every dollar that can be made; every penny that can be filched from the public crib, is snugly salted down and their attention immediately turned to the next little speculation; but never once to repairing the Court House, or the fence which surrounds it. If the tax-payers are satisfied with this kind of management, we do not know as we need complain much; but we want MEEK and his Court House clique to hold their silly tongues, stop lying about the Republican party, and set themselves earnestly to work to correct their own blunders, to explain their own mis-management, their own black and damning record in the last twelve years, and especially since the commencement of the slave-holders rebellion.

Crawford County System.

A few months ago the Editor of the Centre Hall Reporter commenced agitating and urging the adoption of the Crawford County System upon the Democratic party of this county. He published, we think, two articles, pretty strong, and well written, in favor ronte, returned home, and from that day to the present, we have heard nothing more from the Reporter on the Crawford County System. What the Court House clique threatened to do to Frederick, if he did not stop agitating this wholesome change, has not yet transpired; but one thing is pretty certain, that the clique did command him to "dry up" on this subject, and his silence shows that he "dry'd up," caved, wilted, and has determined to take care of himself, no matter what becomes of the Penns-valley Democracy. Kurtz wants office. He knows that the power of the clique is supreme in this direction.—The Democrats in the Valley do well enough to vote the ticket at the general election; but they are of little use in making nominations. Kurtz knows this, and knows his rights, and the rights of his people, but knowing them, he is too cowardly to maintain them. He dare not incur the displeasure of the Bellefonte ring. We care very little what Kurtz may do in the matter, but it makes us feel sorry to see our Democratic friends in Penns Valley cheated, bamboozled and constantly set aside and trampelled upon by men who profess friendship, and profess it only to deceive. Democrats of Pennsvalley, awake! arouse to your true interests! Frederick, assert your rights—your independence. Stand up like a man. Let us hear from you often on the Crawford County System. No, you dare not.

THE Centre Hall Reporter, last week, contained an article in regard to what he is pleased to call the extravagance of the Republican party, and says that "MOSES THOMPSON, a stiff Centre county Radical, thinks that the people should hold indignation meetings." KURTZ has forgotten, it seems, that the Democratic party of Pennsylvania, by its plundering, stealing, and unparalleled extravagance, imposed upon the tax payers of the State, a debt of forty-one millions of dollars. This is a fact that he carefully withholds from his readers, and seeks to draw the wool over their eyes by slandering the Republican party, and publishing unblushing falsehoods manufactured out of the whole cloth, upon such men as Mr. THOMPSON.—Mr. KURTZ closes up his heavy effort in the following classic language;

"If the prospect of going to hell does not check the wickedness of these men, much less will indignation meetings. The only indignation meeting that will effectually stop this plundering, will be by MOSE THOMPSON and his political friends voting the Democratic ticket."

Now, we would inform Mr. KURTZ, that we are not authorized to speak for Mr. THOMPSON, but this much we will venture to say, that "MOSE THOMPSON" and his political friends" would sooner go to h—l than—do any such thing—vote the Democratic ticket! Eh?

The Price of Grain.

We do not intend, as a general thing, to meddle with the prices of grain, further than to give, from week to week, a true statement of the markets both here and in Philadelphia. This week, however, we inadvertently selected for our "Agricultural Department" an article from the Chicago Tribune, containing statements the very reverse of what we believe. It is our opinion that such articles are written in the interest of the grain speculators and find their way into the papers, either as paid advertisements, or through carelessness and want of thought on the part of the editors. No man, of course, can tell to a certainty whether wheat is going to be higher or lower; but one thing we do know, that Editors, by paying a little more attention to this subject, could save the farmers many a dollar, as well as from the imposition of speculators.

We do not advise the farmers to sell or not to sell; and we request them to act upon their own judgment and not upon ours; but we, as we have already said, do not believe the statements made by the Chicago Tribune. Consequently if we had wheat to sell we would not sell at present prices. The Tribune's statements in regard to Liverpool and London are not founded upon facts. The Tribune says "Odessa is pouring in wheat and the neighboring ports are sending forth their grain in numerous vessels, while the news comes that California has a very large surplus crop, which she must export," &c. Will the people believe the mere ipse dixit of the Tribune? For our own part we do not believe a word of it and demand proof. If there were any truth in the statements contained in the Tribune article, will some one interested, or will the editor please explain to us, why wheat keeps up so well? Explain to us why in Philadelphia red wheat is worth to-day from $1.80 to $1.90 per bushel, amber $1.95, and and white wheat from $2.10 to $2.20 per bushel. Will the Tribune please tell us why California "must export" any more than our farmers who are out of debt must sell at present prices?

Finally, we want the Tribune to explain to us why the speculators in grain who are buying it up at from $1,40 to $1,60, are not anxious to get it off their hands at present Philadelphia prices? Speculators in grain, if there was any truth in the Tribune's article, and they believed it, would neither eat nor sleep until they disposed of every bushel they possessed at the present Philadelphia prices. If a fall, at present, in the price of wheat would benefit the laboring men of the country, there might be some excuse for such articles as the one in question. But every man who has any knowledge of reverse is true. With our currency so much below par, or its gold value, wheat should not be below $2 00 per bushel, and there is no reason why it should be. With these rates, labor is plentier and better paid, and the farmer, mechanic and daily laborer fares sumptuously every day.

But if the farmers become frightened, and sell off their wheat as suggested by the Tribune, who does not know that the speculators will control the market, and run up the price before next harvest to $2.50, perhaps $3.00 per bushel? What care these men for the interests of the consumer? This wheat Ring is almost as reprehensible as the "Whiskey Ring," and like it, should be broken up.

We have thrown out these suggestions for what they are worth. Our farmers and friends can act as they may think best.

WHO IS HE?—Gen. GRANT announced, a few days ago, that Pennsylvania would be represented in his Cabinet. He declined to give the name of the man he had chosen, stating, at the same time, that it was a selection which nobody seemed to anticipate, but with which everybody would be pleased. This has set everybody to thinking, and the would-be knowing ones about Washington are terribly excited, and "Who can it be?" is upon the lips of every one.

How stupid (?) the smartest of men sometimes are. Who else could it be, but the chevalier Bayard of the war, the modest and retiring hero of Fort Steadman, Gen. JNO. F. HARTRANFT, now Auditor General of Pennsylvania? What other fame would so completely "fill the bill?"

THE CONSTITUTIONAL AMENDMENT ADOPTED.—Both Houses of the National Legislature have finally adopted the proposed constitutional amendment.

The vote in the Senate stood 39 yeas to 13 nays, and in the House 143 yeas to 43 nays.

The bill including the amendment, reads as follows:

Be it enacted, &c: two thirds of both Houses concurring, That the following amendment to the Constitution of the United States, and when ratified by three-fourths thereof, it shall be a part of said Constitution.

Article 15. The right of any citizen of the United States to vote shall not be denied or abridged by the United States or States on account of race, color, or previous condition of servitude.

The Legislatures of twenty eight States must ratify the above before it can become a part of the Constitution.

Senator Sentor of the Tennessee Legislature was inaugurated Governor of that State on the 25th ult. Gov Brownlow will take his seat in the U. S. Senate on the 4th inst.

Bellefonte needs a market House, or at least two regular market days in the week.

Protection.

Too much, we think, cannot be said, or written, upon the subject of Protection to American Industry. It is the only policy that will give an impetus to our manufacturing and business interests, and enhance the interests of the laboring men of the country. It is the only policy that will make a demand for labor, raise the price of labor, and establish it on a permanent foundation.

The friends of free trade are at work. The Democratic Watchman, and all the Democratic papers in the country, at the bidding of the New York Free Trade League, and the English aristocracy, that furnishes the money to keep it in existence, have thrown off the masks hitherto worn by them, and openly and avowedly espoused the cause of English free trade.—But while they are working to build up England, and fasten the slavish chains upon Ireland, the friends of American industry are not idle. On the 17th and 18th of February last, they met in Philadelphia and organized the "National Industrial League." Leading protectionists from almost every State in the Union were present, and there, in sight of Independence Hall, they resolved that they would spare no pains, energy or labor, in urging upon our Congress the importance of legislation in favor of American men, and American industry. What an important movement! Our miners of oar and coal, our American working men, native and foreign born, should now firmly resolve to aid in this movement, and to vote with no party who is not fully committed to the great American doctrine.

The Irish Republic, in speaking of the organization of the "National Industrial League," says that the object of these men was to save the great Republic of the West, which England failed to conquer by force of arms, from becoming a mere English dependency, by force of what is called Free Trade.

This is, beyond all question, part and parcel of that Southern slavery-born treason which culminated in an open attempt to destroy the life of the Republic. And this, too, is part of that more cowardly and contemptible Northern Copperheadism which, under the guise of a false Democracy, sympathized with, and supported those who, Cain-like, turned their murderous weapons against their brothers' hearts. With a few honorable, and, perhaps, not altogether inexplicable, exceptions, they were Free Traders to a man. And how far their vile and suicidal policy is still pursued may be judged from the fact, that during the past year one hundred and eighty-three millions of American gold dollars have been paid into foreign, and principally into English pockets, for what, but have been manufactured here in our country. Who can calculate the loss of wages to the American workman and the loss of profit to the American manufacturer which this shameful tale unfolds? In the name of interest, of justice, of liberty, of country, how long is this insane and ruinous wickedness to be endured?

The entire so-called Democratic party is Free Trade to the core. They may not have the honesty to put it boldly as a plank into their "platform," but it is the cardinal hinge on which their whole policy turns. We assert this as a fact, deny it who dare? It is for the Irish voters, who are the foundation on which the whole of this dreadful and destructive superstructure stands, to ask themselves, are these facts? Is it, or is it not, a fact, which one of the most able members of the present Congress lately declared, that in the one article of railroad IRON we, the people of the United States, bought from England, in ten short months, TWENTY-ONE THOUSAND TONS more than ALL other countries of the earth taken together? Is it a fact, as was announced in our hearing in the Report of the American Iron and Steel Association, that of the whole consumption of iron in this country, England supplies fully forty per cent.? Is it a fact, or not, that by this false and unpatriotic Free Trade policy, England manages to continue to be our mistress? That we are her chief commercial dependency? That we maintain her throne and aristocracy?

Who, then, are the friends of England, and the enemies of Ireland?—land? Who puts the plunder into the pockets of the former, and locks the chains on the limbs of the latter? The men who vote for Free Trade. The men—let them gnash their teeth at it, if they choose, but they shall hear the truth—the men who support the Democratic party.

THE following is Governor GEARY'S dispatch to General GRANT, denying the report that he had written a letter recommending a Pennsylvanian for a Cabinet appointment:

EXECUTIVE CHAMBER,
HARRISBURG, Pa., Feb. 26, '69.
Gen. U. S. Grant, Pres't Elect.

By the newspapers of to-day I observe that certain persons have stated to you that I have written you a letter to influence your Cabinet appointment from Pennsylvania. I have never written or telegraphed to you, or to any other person, a word in favor of, or against any one for that position. If you have received any such letters or telegrams, they are forgeries.

Truly yours,
JNO. W. GEARY.

The Philadelphia Press of Saturday says it has been authorized to state that no letter has been written, or authorized to be written, by either Judge AGNEW or WILLIAMS, recommending the appointment of any person as a member of General GRANT'S Cabinet.

For the REPUBLICAN.

Labor.

MESSRS. EDITORS:—Bacon truly said that labor was the only real wealth of a country. That being an acknowledged fact by all political economists, the legislation of a nation should have a tendency to foster, promote and preserve that wealth, and thereby enhance the substantial prosperity of the country, and its laboring members. A wise Government will so construct its laws that its toiling masses need never be idle, but always prosperous. The immense wealth of the country, labor, that has been compelled to remain idle in this country this winter, is beginning to awake grave apprehensions in the minds of all true philanthropists.

An acquaintance of ours, who went to Mexico eighteen months ago, as an employee of a British and Mexican R. R. Company, recently returned, gave us a sketch of his experience there, and here, since his return, which corroborates the prevailing idea entertained by the toiling masses, that our Government's legislation has a tendency to promote interests antagonistical to the welfare of labor. He says that, after fulfilling his contract, and drawing his pay, and about leaving for home, the Governor of Very Cruz, upon the pretext that it was dangerous to his Government for Americans to be at large in his domains, had him thrust into prison, where he was robbed of his money and clothing. The American Consul paid no attention to his complaints, and after lying in prison for three months, Gen. Rosencrance arriving, caused his prison doors to be thrown open. He then worked his passage on board a merchant vessel to Boston, where he searched the whole city for employment, but failed to find any. He visited Worcester and Springfield, Mass., Albany, N. Y., Philadelphia, Baltimore, Harrisburg, and several of the interior towns of Pennsylvania, in search of employment, but in all these places failed to find an opening for his services. He says that wherever one vacancy occurred, there were ten applicants for the position vacated. In all the large places in this country, that he visited, he found thousands of robust men out of employment, and many compelled to subsist upon the cold charities of the world.

What the honest, toiling masses wish to know is, what causes this state of affairs—that honest, intelligent, sober and industrious American citizens are compelled to be idle, and see their little ones want for the common necessaries of life, and that, too, in the most inclement season of the year.

Would it not be well enough for the laboring masses to enquire into these facts, and apply the remedy without respect to party or politics. They have the corrective power in their hands, if they properly apply it. The true remedy, and the only remedy for all these evils is, a Protective Tariff. Will our adopted fellow citizens never consider the importance of these questions?

Yours, &c., PHILO.

Breckinridge Returns.

Under the supposed protection, says the Philadelphia Inquirer, of ANDREW JOHNSON'S Amnesty Proclamation, JOHN C. BRECKINRIDGE has ventured back to the United States. He is the first of the expatriated rebels, excepted in previous amnesty proclamations, who has returned. He will probably be soon followed by JACOB THOMPSON, SLIDELL and JUDAH BENJAMIN, and possibly all of them will ask some reward of the rebels in consequence of their sufferings.

The last public appearance of Breckinridge, previous to his going ever to the Rebels, was at Baltimore, and in the same city he makes his reappearance. Of all the miscreants who took part with the Rebellion, this man was the most odious in his treachery. He had not the common and paltry excuse of lesser Rebels, that he must go with his State, because his State did not go with the Rebellion. He could not rely upon the allegation that he was in the South when the Rebellion broke out, and was carried away by the excitement around him. He was a member of the Senate of the United States when Fort Sumter was attacked, having sworn to support and defend the Constitution a short time previously. He stayed in the Senate, participating in public business, after the war had commenced, and although he interposed his feble influence in favor of the Rebels, he did so at the same time protesting his loyalty. It was on the 8th of August, nearly five months after the commencement of the war, after two battles of Big Bethel, Boonville, Rich Mountain, Carrick's Ford and Bull Run, that Breckinridge ate his last dinner with the Secessionists of Baltimore, and received their congratulation, no doubt, at his intended defection. He left Baltimore immediately afterward, sought the Confederate lines and offered himself as a volunteer in the Rebel cause. Scarcely any instance of treason as nefarious can be pointed to. It was an act worthy of one who, if he had lived in the Revolution, would have envied and followed the example of Benedict Arnold. As a soldier, Breckinridge was a failure. He took to the rebellion neither honesty or talent. He required high office as the price of his treachery, and he was made a Major-General, a position for which he was neither fitted by education nor capacity. He was an incubus to the Rebel cause rather than a benefit, and for his last vandal act, the conflagration of Richmond, a large portion of the chivalry of that place ruined by the result, will never forgive him.—Philadelphia Inquirer.

Remarks of Senator Cameron.

In the Senate, on Wednesday, Mr. Buckalew, while discussing the question of changing the mode of choosing Presidential electors, charged that half a million of dollars had been poured out in Pennsylvania to control the last Presidential election. When he had concluded his speech, Mr. Stewart, of Nevada, moved that the Senate recede from its amendments to the Constitutional amendment and concur in the House proposition. Senator Cameron then took the floor, and we copy his remarks from the Daily Globe:

Mr. Cameron. I shall vote in favor of the motion now made by the Senator from Nevada. I had no intention to say a word on this subject, and should not have done so but for a remark which fell from my colleague, which I think was disrespectful to the State from which he and I come, in which we were both born, and to which we owe not only allegiance, but love.—I was sorry to hear him say that money had been brought into Pennsylvania to influence and corrupt the elections there, and to produce a result which the people did not desire. In 1854, my colleague and I separated in politics. The first election, of any consequence, after that, was the election for President, in 1856, when Mr. Buchanan and Colonel Fremont were the opposing candidates. In reply to the remark of my colleague, I think I may say with confidence, that there is hardly a man in Pennsylvania, now living, who was acquainted with that contest, who does not believe that Colonel Fremont was cheated out of the vote of Pennsylvania by the activity and dishonesty of the men who supported Mr. Buchanan. Large sums of money were brought into Pennsylvania to use as a corruption fund and they were so used. Sir, had General Fremont received the vote of Pennsylvania then, as he was entitled to do, we should have been saved the evils which grew out of Mr. Buchanan's administration, including the great rebellion which has cost this country so much blood and treasure, and its consequences. But Colonel Fremont lost the vote of Pennsylvania by the management of the chairman of the State Democratic Central Committee of that year, who, through the use of money from other States, changed the result of the election.

Sir, such things have often hapened in Pennsylvania; but my remembrance is, that they have always been done in the interest of the Democratic party. At the recent election we lost the city of Philadelphia, and the Democratic party nominally elected three Congressmen there; but all men who are acquainted with the contest in the districts of Mr. Myers and Mr. Taylor, know that those gentlemen are entitled to their seats, and were only defeated by great frauds. They intend to claim them, and I have no doubt they will receive them. I remember the other day, in a contest for a seat in the Legislature from the city of Philadelphia, three men were brought up and swore that they had voted at every precinct in the city, and at each place they had given different names to the amount of eight or ten each. They voted early and often, as my friend from New Jersey [Mr. Frelinghuysen] suggests.

I only rose for the purpose of defending my State, and especially the Republican party against this charge of [illegible] in Pennsylvania occurs earlier than in many of the other States. It is a very important State, and, of course, the election is contested with great activity.

Now, let me say one word in regard to the proposition of my colleague. I know that I ought to have studied the question before I attempted to speak upon it. My colleague says that of all the people in the world he despises most stupid people. I agree with him in that. A stupid man is not to be admired by anybody; but we sometimes differ as to where the stupidity is to be found. Sometimes we think people are laughing with us, when they are laughing at us; and so it may be in regard to stupidity. I think it would be very stupid indeed for the party in power now to give to any future Congress the right of gerrymandering Pennsylvania, Indiana, New York and Ohio, so as to control those States; for I think half a dozen shrewd men from those States brought together could pass a bill in Congress by which they could control the destinies of this country. I am in favor, therefore, of leaving this power in the hands of the States. Let the men who know the local interests, the local feelings, and the local strength and weakness of the States settle it themselves at their own homes. To be sure, by carrying such an amendment as my colleague proposes the county of Berks in our State would vote on the one side and the county of Dauphin on the other; and under such a proposition the candidates of my colleague last year might have secured four or five electoral votes in Pennsylvania, and a few in some of the other States, but I greatly prefer that each State shall show its whole strength. Whatever the power of the State may be, let it be given by a single vote in favor of the candidate. I am not so much in favor of State rights as some men who have been here. I learned, during the war for the suppression of the rebellion, that we needed a stronger Government than we ever had before. The great trouble at the beginning of the war was, that there was no power at Washington, under the laws, that could not only arm the forces that were offered, but that could wield them as they could have done if there had been nobody in the States to interfere with them.

I believe this is all I have a desire to say on this subject. I think I have shown, or at least I have tried to do so, that Pennsylvania is not worse than the other States; and if she has done wrong, it has been the Democrats who have done the wrong.

THE exports from New York last year, exclusive of specie, were valued at $164,000,000, against $186,000,000 in 1867. The export of specie and bullion was $71,000,000, or nearly $20,000,000 more than the year preceding, and largely in excess of any one of the five previous years. The total on foreign imports was $251,193 834, of which about $12,000,000 were free goods; and $1,000,000 dry goods. The importations of iron, were, in pigs $50?,704, in railroads bars $4,-094,569, in sheet $350,643, in tubes $90,544, and in other forms $2,286,-218. The railway bars numbered 696,257, which at an average length of thirty feet, would lay over two thousand miles of American railway tracks. This was the importation at New York alone.

I want to rouse each sleepy head.
Who stand upon the brink,
Where yawning gulfs disclose the dead,
Who might, but did not think.

I want to warn the living ones
Who blindly grope along,
Ye fathers, daughters, mothers, sons,
What perils round you throng!

Look our, my reader, are you free,
Or do you wear the mark?
Most all are blind and cannot see,
Yea, groping in the dark.

Catarrh, a demon in the head,
Consumption is its son,
Kills hosts, yea, countless millions dead,
Perhaps you may be one.

That hacking, hawking, spitting, shows,
Catarrh effects your head,
Matter and slime in throat or nose,
Runs down your throat instead.

Your lungs and liver soon will show,
Consumption has its birth;
Catarrh, its sire, will feed it too,
'Till you return to earth.

If colds affect your head and throat,
ANNIHILATOR buy;
Now don't forget what I have wrote,
Or think this subject dry.

WOLCOTT'S ANNIHILATOR cures,
Catarrh—the demon flies;
It save the lungs, good health insures,
And Catarrh quickly dies.

I want to gratify my friends,
Who wish to understand
About PAIN PAINT, its use, its ends,
And Why its great demand.

I want to show you plain as day,
Why PAIN PAINT stops all pain,
That you may never have to say
"I'll not try paint again."

PAIN PAINT will cool but never stain;
Pumps inflamation out;
'Tis harmless on the breast or brain,
A trial stops all doubt.

When inflamation leaves the frame,
All pain will cease at once;
Remove the cause, 'tis all the same;
None doubts unless a dunce.

The pores will ope and drink PAIN PAINT;
Absorbents fill with ease;
Restores the weak, the sick, the faint,
The greatest skeptic pleases.

Evaporation cools the place
As inflamation flies;
Hot blood at the absorbent's base
Makes PAINT in vapor rise.

'Tis thus PAIN PAINT removes all doubt,
Removes the very cause
By pumping inflamation out;
On this we rest our cause.

Wolcott's PAIN PAINT is sold at all Drug Stores; also, Wolcott's ANNIHILATOR, for the cure of Catarrh and Colds in the head. Sent by Express on receipt of the money, at 161, Chatham Square, N. Y. R. L. Wolcott, Prop'r. fe24'69 4w.

BELLEFONTE, PA.

Wednesday Morning, March 3, '69.

THE Drug Store of F. P. Green will be removed, April 1st, 1869, from Brockerhoff's row, to the new Hotel of Bush & McLain, over the creek. Jan. 20tf.

FOR SALE.—A first class farm, within two miles of Bellefonte, is now for sale. Any person wishing to buy, can learn full particulars, by calling at the office of the Bellefonte Republican.

JUSTITIA.—We are sorry your communication reached us too late for insertion in this number. From the character of its news, &c., we think it will not do—will be too old for our next. It is good, however. Send us another. Mail, so as to reach us on Monday.

ENGRAVING.—Some of the finest specimens of engraving we have ever seen were shown us on Monday last. They were executed by Frank P. Blair, son of Gen. Wm. H Blair, of this place. Frank has great reason to feel proud of his skill in this particular. We understand that Frank holds himself in readiness to execute the fancy jobs in this line for all the jewelers in town or county.

NEW TOBACCO STORE.—We understand that our young friend LEVI A. MILLER has rented the store room in JERRY BUTZ's new brick building on Allegheny street, in which he intends to open a tobacco store and eating house on the European principle. The room will be divided; the store room and eating department will be separate. Truly, Bellefonte is spreading herself and putting on style.

REV. PARDOE.—This excellent man and christian minister, pastor of the M E. Church in this place for the last two years, is soon, in the economy of that Church, to leave us. If we are compelled to part with him, it will be in sorrow. He has accomplished much good while here, and could do much more, if he could remain. We hope the Congregation will petition the proper authorities to have him remain another term.

CONTRACTS, &c.—What has become of the contractor of this town, Charles McCafferty? Have you nothing 'big' on hands for this summer, Charley? How many new houses have you contracted for? How much scrip will you distribute? How many men will you employ during the summer? What has become of your enterprise at the new dam on Logan's Branch? Has it fizzled? Keep us booked, please. We must have local news.

OUR WESTERN LETTER.—"OUR own Em Quad" has failed to come to time—We know not the cause; but we feel that our readers will be disappointed. We hope he will get the steam up, the machine in motion, and be on hand with "another of the same" for our next number. We have become accustomed to it. We cannot do without it. The paper don't look right, don't sound right, don't read right without it. Come along "Em Quad. The people think you are a gay and festive "cuss."

MORE NEW BUILDING.—We are pleased to learn that our friend, Robert McKnight, has made arrangements to erect two large and handsome frame buildings on his lots fronting on High street. The lumber is all contracted for, and the buildings will be finished in early summer. Robert possesses the proper spirit. He has the enterprise and the will. Would that some of our capitalists would catch a little of the same spirit. We want two hundred new houses in town to day. If we had a few more men like Robert McKnight we would not want long.

UNIONVILLE.—This is one of the most pleasant towns in the county. Pleasantly situated on the Lock Haven & Tyrone Railroad, and its inhabitants are about as pleasant, jolly a set of men and women as can be found in any community. J. & G. Alexander, B. Rich, Dr. J M. Blair, and many other good and true Republicans reside in this town. A few Democrats are to be found. Just enough to keep the Republicans faithful, and on the lookout. It is best, perhaps, that all the citizens do not belong to the Republican party. There are a few, however, that should at once come over to the Republican party.

ENTERPRISE.—Shortlidge & Co. deserve great credit for the efforts they have made, and are making, to supply the people with good, clean coal, and at as low rates as is possible in this market. They have now almost finished a building, extending from one end of their coal yard to the other. This is under roof and enclosed. From this henceforth, therefore, the citizens will get dry coal. Hereafter there will be no necessity for procuring coal and housing in the Summer, in order to have it dry in the Winter. The enterprise of Shortlidge & Co. obviates this difficulty. We hope that this firm will meet with the encouragement they deserve. Protect and encourage home industry is our doctrine.

THE BEST DAIRY.—A few weeks ag we published, says the Tioga Agitator, the yield of Mr. B. Monroe's dairy, with an opinion that it would not be beat en. Mr. Sanford Strait, of Lawrence, sends us the yield of his dairy in 1868, which not only beats Mr. Monroe's, but will not be beaten by any other, in our judgment. Mr. Strait says: "Last year I kept seven old cows and one 2 year old heifer. From the milk of those cows we made butter which sold for $482,92; and from the buttermilk we realized in calves and pork $145.00—a total of $627 92, and $58 49 to each cow."

Now, suppose that those cows cost Mr. Strait $50 each in the spring of 1868; and you have a gross profit of $28.49 to each cow. In other words, each cow paid for itself, and earned $28.49 over and above. Of course Mr. Strait's diary has been managed with excellent judgment, or this favorable report could not have been made.

NEW FOUNDRY.—The new Foundry Building of Todd & Duncan is nearly finished, and begins to look like business.

NOT YET.—We understand that the Presbyterian Congregation of this place have not yet selected a pastor to fill the vacancy occasioned by the resignation of Rev. Yoemans.

TOWNSHIP ELECTIONS.—We intended to publish, for the benefit of the readers of the Republican, the election returns of each of the townships and boroughs in the county. Thus far we have not been able to procure them, and no one has taken sufficient interest to report for us.

BROCKERHOFF'S MILL.—In another column of the Republican will be found the advertisement of T. J. & I. C Cole. This is a good firm. They pay the highest market price for grain of all kinds, warrant their flour good, and are anxious to share in the patronage of the public.—We wish them success.

NEW LIGHT.—Loeb, May & Loeb invited us to their well furnished store a few evenings since to see the "New Light," made by Petroleum fluid, manufactured by J. J. Palmer. This fluid has been in use more than a year, and is growing in favor wherever used. It makes the brightest and best light, of anything of the kind we have ever seen. It is recommended as making "no offensive oder, no smoke, no grease to soil garments, no danger from explosion in lamps."

Any person wishing to see or purchase this "petroleum fluid," can call at the store of Loeb, May & Loeb, on Allegheny street.

BELLEFONTE AND LEWISBURG RAILROAD.—The Mifflinburg Telegraph is fully aroused on the subject of a Railroad from this place through Union county.—We are pleased to see this, and hope the Editor will continue his efforts in this direction. We copy, for the benefit of our Pennsvalley friends, the following communication, which appeared in the Telegraph of the 25th ult:

"CAPT. OSWIG—Dear Sir:—Please allow a constant reader of the TELEGRAPH to suggest a plan of operations by which if followed, I believe work may be commenced on a Railroad from Lewisburg to Bellefonte before midsummer, with all the means available for its early completion.

Let the citizens of Union and Centre counties, each organize, say a dozen of their most prominent citizens, interested in the enterprize, into a company, for the purpose of receiving subscriptions and negotiating with other Railroad Companies likely to be interested. For Union county I would suggest the following respectable and well known names:

John Diehl, Lauraton.
R. V B. Lincoln, Esq., Hartley tp.
Daniel Long, Hartleton.
Shem Spigelmyer, "
Dr W. F. Seebold, "
Wm. Young, Esq., Mifflinburg.
Dr. D. H. Miller, "
C. H. Shriner, Esq. "
Hon. John W. Simonton, Buffalo tp
Hon. Eli Slifer, Lewisburg.
Hon. John Walls, "
W. C. Duncan, "

"With the well known general desire for a Railroad, and the pecuniary advantages and great business facilities afforded, who can doubt that the gentlemen named could secure the means to extend the Lewisburg branch to Mifflinburg or Hartleton? A similar association of men at Bellefonte, and through Penns Valley might as readily secure the means for its continuation to Bellefonte!

"As soon as means sufficient were subscribed to secure an organization according to law, one company might be formed with all the rights and priveleges of other Railway Companies, &c.

"Not a day should be lost in this matter of such 'overshadowing importance,' as you have justly termed it.

"Let the gentlemen above named call a meeting, if they are willing to act, and organize themselves into a Company, for the purpose of soliciting subscriptions, and then let meetings be called, and efforts be made, as the citizens of other counties do, who are interested in, and want Railroads, and success will certainly crown the effort. If our people are not willing to do this, or something similar, let us hear no more of Buffalo or Penns Valley wanting a Railroad. Hoping the gentlemen whom I have named will let us hear from them, and most earnestly wishing for success, I remain

"Yours truly."

The communication is full of good practical suggestions. Let our people act upon them. Let meetings be called as early as possible. Let not one wait upon another. If a dozen cannot be induced to act, let some active, energetic friend of the enterprise take the responsibility, and call a meeting at Bellefonte, Boalsburg Millheim, or any other suitable place, ; we will insert the notice free, and insure a good attendance.

A Railroad from Bellefonte to Lewisburg would be, we think, just what the Snowshoe R. R. Co. most desire; and if the farmers, and others interested along the line, will hustle themselves and show that they are in earnest, the co-operation of the aforesaid company can easily be obtained.

We understand that the route from here to Milroy has been declared impracticable. Why will not a road leading from this place, via Boalsburg, to Lewisburg, answer just as well? We believe it to be far superior to the Milroy route, and by going up Spring Creek to Boalsburg we go around the mountain instead of over it, and thus all Penns valley is accommodated.

We sincerely hope that the Snowshoe R. R. Co., and the people of Penns and Buffalo vallies will act in harmony in this matter, and take immediate steps to secure a survey of the route, and the speedy completion of the road.

We are satisfied in regard to the practicability of the route, and believe that the Snowshoe company is ready and willing to do its part so soon as the people who are most benefited by the completion of the road manifest a disposition to do their whole duty in the matter.

INSURENCE.—Mr. James. D. Turner is agent for the North American Insurence Co. He is a good agent and acts for a sound company.

MORE WORK.—Mr Jno. Brechbill has commenced to build an addition to the house in which he now resides, on High St. It affords us pleasure to chronicle these evidences of the prosperity of our town and citizens.

BLYMYER & Co.—We invite the attention of our readers to the advertisement of G and J. P. Blymyer, in another column. They offer for sale a large lot of rack and Barrel salt at reduced prices. This is a strong, reliable and accomodating firm, and are well known as such to many of our readers. Read the advertisement. †

REFRESHMENTS.—We do not know the opinion of others, but we are very largely of the opinion that there are not two pleasanter or more accommodating fellows, nor are there any better calculated to cater, in a satisfactory way, to the wants of hungry people than are Messrs. Hoy & Co., immediately opposite the Court House, north side, where you will find all the delicacies of the season.—Their oysters are the freshest and best in town. Give them a call †

VELOCIPEDE.—Hoop, hurrah! Centre county has a velocipede. There is always some genius turns up to keep our county up with the times. Boalsburg has the honor of the first velocipede in the county. We are informed that Mr Enoch Sweeney manufactured it, and set it running, all the same night. We understand that the whole town is in a state of excitement, and our friend Enoch is the admired of all admirers. We trust he will mount his velocipedal horse and pay Bellefonte a visit.

WHY GO SOUTH?—We learn from the Philadelphia Press that Col. Jno. W Forney has established a "Land Office," for the sale of Southern lands, in connection with the office of his Washington Chronicle newspaper. Shortly after Col. Forney established this office, he started on a tour through Virginia and North Carolina, and has given the result of his travels, what he saw, the animus of the people, the great speculations, the furnace grist and saw-mill sites, &c., in a series of letters published in the Philadelphia Press. The Colonel is a most excellent writer, and paints a nice pen picture of affairs in the Southern States, but in our opinion his picture is too highly painted. He represents everything quiet in North Carolina, and says that the citizens of that State are all anxious to welcome Northern men and Northern capital, but we notice that, notwithstanding these statements published by our friend Col Forney, that Governor Holden of North Carolina finds it necessary to repair to Washington to implore Congress not to remove the military—the U. S. soldiers—from that State. Here is a flat contradiction of the statements made by Col Forney in relation to the animus of this portion of the Southern people. We do not charge Col Forney with wilfully mistating the true condition of affairs in the Southern States; but we know these people, and we know, too, how smoothly they can talk, and how patriotic they can become, willing to accept the situation, obey the laws and protect the Northern emigrant, until they sell their lands and obtain the money of said emigrant.—Then comes the "tug of war" If the emigrant, or carpet bagger, as he is called, has an opinion of his own, and attempts to express it, he is soon informed that he is not wanted in that community. We need not, in this connection, repete the outrages and murders of just such men, committed by the Ku-Klux Klan, goaded on and encouraged by such oily-tongued hypocrits as own the large tracts of land in those States. We know what we affirm, for we have investigated scores of these cases. West Virginia may be, and we believe is, an exception to the general rule, but we would advise our people to keep out of the Southern States, at least for farming purposes, for some time to come.

There are thousands of opportunities in this State, and in the great West, for people to invest their surplus funds, and at the same time be perfectly safe in regard to life and limb. If Col. Forney would pay Bellefonte a visit, and make himself acquainted with our people, and the natural advantages of the place, we think he would be induced to turn his mind in this direction, instead of the Southern States.

Our water power is not surpassed, nor equalled, by any in the United States—Our facilities for all kinds of manufactories are far superior to those of any of the New England towns, or States Here, in Bellefonte, are superior chances for large fortunes. Col. Forney may travel through every Southern State, and, we venture the assertion, he will never find any thing in comparison. Situate, as we are, in the geographical centre of the Keystone State, with our mountains full of the best of bituminous coal, and our valleys and ridges full of iron ore, on the great line of Railroads running East and West, we should be the greatest manufacturing town in the world.

There should be erected hardware and cutlery establishments at least two, which would give employment to from one to two thousand men; we should have woollen factories, paper mills, wire mills, cotton mills, wholesale boot and shoe manufactories, two or three more glass works, and manufactories of reapers, mowers and other farming implements. Bellefonte is just the place for all these, and to this place we invite Col. Forney to direct his attention.

We have a number of enterprising capitalists at home, ready and willing to co-operate with Col. Forney, and all other capitalists that he could be instrumental in persuading to settle amongst us.

We would suggest that our capitalists, and men of enterprise, call a meeting, and appoint a committee to wait upon Col. Forney, and secure, not only his influence, but the influence of his two daily papers, in making known to capitalists, everywhere, the supreme advantages of our healthful and romantic town.

LOCK HAVEN.—It is said that the citizens of Lock Haven feel very proud of the new Court House recently erected in that place. It is also said to be one of the finest buildings of the kind in the State, and, no doubt, cost a very handsome sum.

At the first court held in this new house, the ladies of Lock Haven, feeling aggrieved by the liquor traffic, presented to the Court the following petition:

"The ladies of the Lock Haven Temperance Society, beg leave to present to the Hon. Court the accompanying petition from more than fifteen hundred ladies, residents of Clinton county. It is unnecessary to remind your Honors that the facts stated in our petition is too obvious to admit of any dispute. Through every avenue of information we are impressed with the fearful truth, and the experience of every one of us confirms the reality of the darkest picture ever drawn by tongue or pen of the effects of this abomination of desolation which curses our beautiful land. Still the river of Death rolls on, growing broader and deeper, bearing on its black waves, thousands of our youth, as well as many of the noblest of our land. Therefore, in the name of God and Humanity, in the name of sorrowing mothers, of heart broken wives and starving children, we pray your Honors that you would use the power vested in you in refusing to license each and every one of those dens of pollution, which under the name of Restaurants, &c., are contaminating our streets and poisoning the very fountain of life by vending the vile adulterations sold as alcoholic drinks. And especially we ask your Honors to withhold license from all who are under indictment in this Court for illegal traffic in the beverage of death. We dare to present this appeal because we believe in the justice and humanity of our Hon. Court, and because it is right."

Time to Cut Timber.

It is now some twenty years since we first urged the importance of seasoning timber as speedily as possible after cutting, to insure its durability; and as a consequence recommended the middle or latter part of summer as the best time—the seasoning being rapid in the warm air and under the hot sun. We have at that time examples where timber cut, and split or sawed immediately after cutting, lasted twice as long as when cut in winter, and allowed to season slowly, and at a time when it is apt to become sap rotten to some degree before the seasoning process can be perfected. We are glad to see corroborative evidence coming in from all quarters in proof of the correctness of this position. In the proceedings of the Alton Horticultural Society of a late date, we are informed that Dr. Long exhibited samples of timber cut at different times, and after experimenting for years, is convinced that from the 10th of July to the first of August is the best time to cut timber. Mr. Sidway remarked at the same meeting that he commenced many years ago cutting timber for the bark, and he had observed that when timber for rails had the bark peeled off so as to season rapidly, it lasted much longer, Mr. Snedeker endorsed the same views, having found by actual trials that summer-cut timber was much the most durable. Dr. Hull had found hickory excellent for posts, if cut and peeled in summer.

We may add that we know a different conclusion to be adopted, by simply doing the thing in the wrong way. Timber was cut in summer and allowed to lie in the log with the bark on. It could not thus become seasoned; and the heat induced what is termed sap-rotting more rapidly than would have occurred in the cold of winter. The experimenter was satisfied that "summer was the worst time to cut,"—merely because he omitted to split and saw at once so as to favor seasoning.—Country Gentleman.

What will be the Future Price of Wheat.

The Chicago Tribune discusses, "the future of wheat," and after going over the whole field, comes to the following conclusion: Present indications are not in favor of higher prices. The price of the article is again falling in Liverpool and London, owing to the arrival of large fleets of grain-laden vessels from the Orient regions. Odessa is pouring in wheat, and the neighboring ports are sending forth their grain in numerous vessels, while the news comes that California has a very large surplus crop, which she must export and promises to do greater things next season.

The only hope for higher prices lies in that of a poor crop in 1869. Here, again, the balance of testimony is against it. The weather of the present winter has been peculiarly favorable to spring sowing, and the indications are that the greater portion of the next crop will be sown in March, which is generally looked on as insuring a bounteous yield. The only kind of wheat likely to be injured by the weather is that sown in the fall. But the proportion of winter wheat is now very small, and grows smaller each year. Not a bushel of winter wheat has been sold in our market for the past three months, and flour made therefrom is a drug with our dealers. The manufacture of spring flour has been so much improved within the past two or three years that it answers every requirement.

So far, then, there appears to be no very cheering prospect for the advocates of high prices. The best thing that holders can do is to prepare to look their losses in the face as gracefully as may be, and decide to let go, lest the chance of selling be denied in toto. The supply is too abundant to admit of a scarcity, and sellers to the great world of consumers are too numerous to admit of the holders being able to dictate in the matter of prices.

LARGEST STEER IN THE WORLD.—There is a white steer, aged six years and six months, belonging to Samuel H. Jones, of Sangoman county, Ill., that is six feet six inches high; nine feet six inches in length; ten feet six inches around the girth; three feet across the hips; and weighs three thousand and 600 pounds! He is a cross of the "Short-horn Durham" and the "Patton" stock.

An excursion party was made up recently, at Springfield, with the expressed purpose of visiting this monster beast twelve miles from that place at Williamsburg. The party, on their arrival, appointed a committe. of Col. White, of Sangamon county, and our fellow citizen, A. W. Bothwell, Esq., to take the exact measurement of this steer, which they did, with the above result. We derive these facts from Mr. A. W. Bothwell, one of the committeemen, and therefore they may be relied upon as correct. Mr. Jones has been offered $1,500 for this steer, but refused to sell. He purposes increasing its weight to 4,000 pounds, when he is to receive two thousand dollars for it.

We challenge the whole world to produce a steer equal in size and weight to the one described.—American Stock Journal.

The Mercer Potato.

We have never belived that the Mercer potato had "run out," as we have seen a thousand times declared. We believe that all that is necessary to restore it to its pristine excellence and productiveness is a change of seed, and that if seed were obtained directly from New England, and if from Maine the better, there would have been no deterioration of either quality or quantity. If farmers will continue to plant year after year, and we have known many to do so for 20 years, the same potato raised by themselves, and the small ones at that, they can expect nothing else than the steady falling off of the crop, and a lower grade as to excellence of tuber. The same is the case with wheat, rye, corn and oats, every farmer well knows.

We are led to these remarks from seeing a statement made to the farmers' Club of New York, by Mr. N. C. Jessup, of West Hampton, Long Island, in which he says, in presenting some specimens of the Mercer potatoes raised by him, that he obtained the seed four years ago from Maine, that he had cultivated them on barren sands and had realized at the rate of three hundred and thirty-five bushels per acre. They had not rotted, but continued to be as sound as any potato can be.

The Mercer potato has never been excelled in point of quality in this region, and we have known over three hundred bushels per acre, in a field of three or four acres, to be raised in Germantown. Nobody for more than a quarter of a century ever dreamed of planting any other variety; and we have no reason to doubt, had the mistake not been committed in replanting the potatoes raised upon the same premises, but planted seed from a distance, the Mercer might have been as good to-day as ever it was. The trial of Mr. Jessup, as stated above, shows what he did with it last season. Why should not others try? Why pay enormous prices for new kinds about which next to nothing is known except from the puffs of those who are making a good thing out of them?—Germantown Tel.

WHAT FARMERS CANNOT CONCEAL.—A poor farmer cannot conceal the fact that he is a poor farmer. All his surroundings proclaim the verdict against him; his horses, cattle, wagons, harness, plows, fences, fields, even his wife and children bear silent but unmistakable evidence against him. On the other hand, all these things will testify favorably on behalf of the good farmer. Every passer by can read the evidence pro or con. This fact, alone, ought to stimulate every farmer to do his best, for the sake of his own character, as well as interest; for he may rest assured that every passer by will pronounce judgment according to the evidence.

CHICKEN CHOLERA.—A correspondent of the Department of Agriculture, writing from Iowa, says:

"My chickens have been dying with cholera for the last two years,—even turkeys have died of the same disease. When I notice the fowls begin to droop and look sleepy, I give them three or four tablespoonsful of strong alum water, and repeat the same the next day. I also mix their feed with strong alum water, feeding twice a day for two or three days—afterwards once a week. Since commencing this practice I have not lost any.

HOG CHOLERA.—A correspondent of the Maine Farmer, in answer to an inquiry as to the cause and cure of worms of pigs, writes:

"If the writer will take the pains to give his pigs a handful of good rock salt twice a week in their food, until killing time, I think the pigs will thrive, providing he gives them enough to eat. The cause of pigs having worms, is, I think, the want of the preventive—salt. Pigs hardly ever get any salt except what they get in the slops from the kitchen."

A FRENCH FARM.—The most extensive farmer in France is M. de Candain. His farm in Touraine is valued at two million francs, and the income he derives from it considerably above 500,000 a year. He sells, every year, one thousand head of fat cattle, and has on his farm a distillery, a beet and starch sugar manufactory, a large linen and woolen factory, and all his factories and farm buildings are lighted with gas. His farm is said to be the most productive in Europe.

CURE FOR COLIC IN HORSES.—The death of Robert Bonner's Auburn horse induces a New-Yorker to send the Tribune a remedy which he has never seen fail to cure colic in horses. It is simply to drench them with a preparation of chlorine and permanganic acid, which can be procured at any drug store. He has used it and seen it used repeatedly, and has so much confidence in it that he would be willing to insure the recovery of any horse if it was administered in time.

CURRANT bushes may be pruned this month with advantage. Don't be afraid of cutting out too much. Leave only healthy, strong wood of two summers' growth, and your fruit will be larger and almost as much in quantity. A very pretty way of training is to stretch wires from posts set about twelve feet apart, and tie the stalks fan-shaped to them. In this way the currant makes a beautiful border for a path, and also a pleasing cover for an unsightly fence.

MISCELLANEOUS.

AMERICAN BUTTON-HOLE OVER-SEAMING AND SEWING MACHINE COMBINED.

MEDAL AWARDED AT THE PARIS EXPOSITION, 1867.

In directing attention to the celebrated COMBINATION BUTTON HOLE AND SEWING MACHINE, we feel fully warranted in claiming for it unquestionable superiority over all others as a Family Machine.—The Simplicity, Ease and Certainty with which it operates, as well as the uniform excellence of its work, certainly place it far in advance of any other similar invention of the age.

It is also the cheapest, intrinsically, as well as the best, since it is really two machines combined in one, (by a simple and beautiful mechanical arrangement never before accomplished by human ingenuity,) making either the Lock Stitch or Button Hole Stitch, as occasion may require. It is, at the same time, simple in construction, comparatively noiseless, easily understood, and, in a word, it combines with those advantages exclusively its own the most desirable qualities of all others, for it not only does every variety of sewing in a SUPERIOR MANNER, but in addition OVERSEAMS splendidly and makes beautiful BUTTON and EYELET HOLES in all fabrics. This is far beyond the capacity of any other machine.

The SPLENDID MECHANISM of this Machine, and the superior skill workmanship and materials employed in its construction, are a guarantee of accuracy, strength and durability, and enable the company and its agents to Warrant Every Machine they sell to give entire satisfaction.

INSTRUCTIONS GIVEN ON THE MACHINE GRATUITOUSLY.

Lessons may be taken if desired with a view to test the Machine, or to become better acquainted with it before deciding to purchase. Samples of work will be furnished upon application at
